

Affinity Partnership Program

Your members benefit from value-added services included with their membership. Now, through the Transworld Systems Commercial Division Affinity Partnership program, you can offer them access to solutions that help streamline their internal operations by effectively managing their accounts receivable.

Transworld Systems Commercial Division

We deliver solutions. Like all businesses, your members benefit from improved cash flow. By becoming an Affinity Partner with Transworld Systems, you'll offer your members access to a suite of services that deliver bottom-line results and substantially increase ROI. They'll have the resources they need to reduce their days sales outstanding and minimize devastating credit losses.

We deal exclusively with business-to-business creditors. In fact, all of our Commercial call centers and sales offices are solely dedicated to Commercial Services to ensure this commitment. Our 78 years of experience, combined with our unmatched financial strength and stability will help your members improve their profitability and compete more effectively within their market space.

The Transworld Systems Commercial Division Affinity Partnership

We support your members - and you. By becoming a Transworld Systems Affinity Partner, you can easily enhance the value of your membership, at no cost to you, by offering your members the ability to proactively manage their cash flow.

Your members will have access to:

- A single point of contact with a credit professional who specializes in your industry
- Proven collection processes that maximize recovery and minimize credit losses, including a national network of private investigators that give your members a presence wherever their customers are located
- Free services that help identify and avoid known credit risks, including agency demand letters for delinquent accounts

In addition, as a Transworld Systems Affinity Partner, you will participate in revenue sharing based on your member's billings. To inform your members of this new service, you'll have access to some Transworld Systems Commercial Division resources such as:

- An educational credit and collection tips column for your newsletter
- Web-based marketing opportunities
- Artwork for advertising and mailers
- Speakers for association conventions, to keep your members informed of the latest trends and techniques in effective receivables management

You can recommend Transworld Systems to your members with confidence. Our commitment to quality is demonstrated by our professional memberships. We are proud members of the ACA International, Commercial Collection Agency Association, and the International Association of Commercial Collectors. Our extensive licensing, bonding, and internal compliance programs ensure integrity and protect your members' interests. We look forward to serving you and your members by providing a valuable membership benefit that delivers improved cash flow and reduced enterprise-wide costs.
